

John Kerry WENT to Viet Nam and fought. The cowards in the Republican White House certainly cannot say the same. Your company needs to keep its mouths shut and not try to win this election by airing a broadcast that is certainly not news and probably not even the truth and trying to win an election for a man that was never really elected in the first place.

I will certainly boycott any station of yours from now on.